halo one shot

HALO THE UNTOLD STORY OF THE UNLOCKED LVL.

(this is my first story so it is only 1 chapter so please tell me what you think)

PROLOUGE:

The story begins in a secret lvl. As I being Master Cheif teleports in and I have an assualt rifle and and a sniper rifle.

THE BEGINNING:

As I begin walking I go around the corner and I see two grunts and I use my assualt rifle and killed them both. But I then I heard a sound and then out of nowhere a camouflauged elite with an energy sword attacked me, but I swung my assualt rifle and hit him once and knocked him back. When he came again I hit him once more and then he backed up a bit, so I began to blast with my assualt rifle until he died and when he died he dropped a plasma grenade and I picked it up. Then I continued on for a little while and there was no enemies until I walked into a room that I thought was weird at first but that feeling went away. Then out of no where a hunter came at me and I didnt have a lot of time to react so I got knocked back. After it hit me I turned and began to blast with my asualt rifle. The problem was it had no effect against his sheild so I threw my only plasma grenade and got lucky, it hit him right in the head and exploded and he died and then he dropped three plasma grenades and I picked them up.

THE RAGE OF REVENGE:

After what seemed liked hours I walked into a certain room and looked around and I saw a sight that I could never forget. All I could see is dead marines and then I turned to see a fleet of elites with energy swords and two hunters and about twenty grunts. As I looked at all of them and then a fire inside of me ignited and was like an anger I couldn't control. I went off. I took out my assault rifle and began to fire. First, one grunt then two and then an elite and more grunts. I threw a plasma grenade and took out about ten grunts and badly damaged an elite and then took it out with the assault rifle. Then I was in real trouble; my assault rifle was out of ammo so I used another plasma grenade and took out a hunter. I then used my sniper on the other and I used my last plasma and badly damaged a bunch of elites and killed one. Then I used my sniper on another and killed it. After that I used it again and took out two more but there was still one more and it was camouflaged and I was completely out of ammo. So I waited for it to attack and when he began to I turned and backflipped over him and nailed him in the head and he died. Then I continued on to get on to the ship and we went back to base.
